Departformental Services

> Advisory Services

The statisticians of this department provide advisory services to the PG students, teachers and scientists on various statistical aspects like experimental design, scrutiny of data, data analysis, interpretation of data analysis etc.

At least one statistician should be a member of advisory committee of PG student. The PG teachers of this department are providing their services as a member of advisory committee of each PG student. This department played an active role as a member of advisory committee of PG students in various faculties.

This department also contributed in all meetings of AGRESCO subcommittees and ZEARC and provide expert service for various aspects of agricultural statistics.