PREFACE

India's economy heavily relies on agriculture, making it a fundamental component of our economic structure. In the context of globalization, significant structural changes are occurring within the agriculture sector. However, Indian agriculture continues to contend with numerous issues, such as stagnant productivity levels, considerable post-harvest losses, and a relatively small share in global trade. Due to globalization, the agri-business landscape is evolving into a more intricate and systematic industry. Agri-business is emerging as a rapidly growing sub-sector in India, showcasing the greatest potential for business growth. Considering these reforms, there is a pressing need for agri-business education within the State Agricultural Universities of India. Acknowledging the significance of skilled human resources in the agri-business sector, Junagadh Agricultural University launched the PGIABM program in 2008.

Since 2008, the PG Institute of Agribusiness Management has become a respected place for learning about agri-business management. Support from the Indian Council of Agricultural Research, Junagadh Agricultural University, and our faculty has made this possible. Now in its 17th year, PGIABM is dedicated to preparing young people to become future leaders. Students here go through a transformative experience, and our programs are designed to help them grow into socially aware leaders.

Junagadh Agricultural University is cultivating agri-business experts by providing MBA and Ph.D. programs in Agri-business Management, which will significantly bridge the divide between agriculture and contemporary business ideas. The regular intake for MBA is 38 seats, comprising 26 regular seats (including EWS) and 12 reserved for ICAR candidates. The MBA and Ph.D. programs at PGIABM aim to equip students for careers in the agri-business sector, focusing on agricultural marketing, agricultural finance, as well as agricultural economics and farm management. The University and Institute emphasize the comprehensive growth of students by encouraging participation in academics, co-curricular activities, class excursions, cultural events, and sports competitions. The curriculum provided by PGIABM is designed in accordance with the BSMA Committee of ICAR, along with some enhancements from the expert committee in this area. The teaching approach of the PGIABM focuses on developing skills for entrepreneurship and self-employment.

Students from this institute have excelled not only in academics and coursework but also in extracurricular pursuits at both the institute and university levels, as well as in national competitive exams. Our students secure positions in esteemed companies across India and have instilled pride in their alma mater through their performance. The institute is consistently working to enhance the standard of education provided here. The ICAR accreditation process aids in evaluating the resources available for delivering the quality education provided by the institute. The institute received its accreditation from the ICAR Peer Review committee upto March 2026. Following accreditation, the financial backing from ICAR and the State Government has significantly enhanced the institute's growth and development activities. As the institute is set for additional accreditation, this report contains all essential details regarding the activities conducted by the institute over the past five years.

The Self Study Report Team at the University and at the Institute is sincerely appreciated for their assistance, direction, and recommendations provided in the report preparation. I sincerely appreciate everyone who contributed to the preparation of this report

Self Study Report for M.B.A. Degree Programme

6.4. SELF-STUDY REPORT FOR THE PROGRAMME M.B.A.

Post Graduate Institute of Agri-Business Management

6.4.1. BRIEF HISTORY OF M.B.A. PROGRAM

A constituent college of Junagadh Agricultural University (JAU), the Post Graduate Institute of Agri-Business Management (PGIABM) is located within the scenic and academically vibrant campus of Junagadh Agricultural University in Junagadh, Gujarat. Strategically situated in the heart of the Saurashtra region, the institute benefits from the rich agricultural diversity and research ecosystem of the university. Being an integral part of JAU, PGIABM enjoys access to the university's state-of-the-art infrastructure, advanced research facilities, experienced faculty members, and extensive academic resources. Its location within JAU also facilitates close collaboration with various departments, research centers, and extension activities of the university, ensuring students gain both theoretical knowledge and practical exposure to real-world agricultural practices. The Department of Agriculture & Co-operation, Government of Gujarat (GOG), approved the institute on June 10, 2008, with resolution number JKV-122008-362-K.2 (Annex-6.4.1).

The institute was first established in 2008 in the ATIC building of Junagadh Agricultural University in Junagadh. Following that, Junagadh Agricultural University allocated a total of 0.8632 hectares of land for the construction of a college building. Hostels for both boys and girls are necessary because it is a residential degree program. While a separate boy's hostel was approved, the girls accepted into the MBA program are living in Junagadh Agricultural University's shared PG girls' hostel. The Institute was given the separate land where the boys' hostel was built, named "Chanakya". The Chanakya hostel building, which houses 40 rooms for boys, is completely furnished and operational under the administration of the Principal, Post Graduate Institute of Agri-Business Management.

In accordance with the guidelines of the Indian Council of Agricultural Research (ICAR), the institute building, along with all the necessary infrastructure and facilities, was constructed at the sanctioned location within the Junagadh Agricultural University campus. On 14th August 2012, the newly built college building was inaugurated by Shri Narendra Modi, the then Honourable Chief Minister of Gujarat State. Following the inauguration, the Post Graduate Institute of Agri-Business Management (PGIABM) was officially shifted to its modern premises, equipped with advanced infrastructure to support academic and research excellence.

At present, as per ICAR norms and academic standards, the institute is actively engaged in imparting quality education in the field of Agri-Business Management in Gujarat. It plays a pivotal role in developing skilled professionals, researchers, scientists, and entrepreneurs, who act as driving forces for the progress of agripreneurs and farmers, either directly or indirectly. The institute not only focuses on enhancing students' managerial and technical competencies but also aims to improve the socio-economic status of agripreneurs through innovation, research, and capacity-building initiatives. In addition to academic training, PGIABM emphasises practical exposure, industry interaction, and entrepreneurial development, preparing students to tackle the evolving challenges of the agri-business sector. It continues to serve as a center of excellence, fostering sustainable growth, promoting rural development, and shaping the next generation of innovators in the agri-business domain and contributes significantly to transforming the agricultural and business landscape of Gujarat.

The institute operates under the direct administration of Junagadh Agricultural University, Junagadh, and is actively engaged in agribusiness education, research, and extension activities. Along with imparting quality education, the institute also contributes significantly to research in agribusiness and undertakes various extension programs aimed at benefiting students, farmers, and agro-based industries. The teaching staff, comprising Professors, Associate Professors, and Assistant Professors in their respective disciplines, efficiently manage academic instruction, research initiatives, and outreach activities.

Following a comprehensive approach based on the Triple Action Framework of Teaching, Research, and Extension (TRE), the institute has established itself as a leading center for agribusiness education in Saurashtra and Gujarat. Student admissions are conducted through an entrance examination and merit-based selection, in accordance with the academic policies of the State Agricultural Universities of Gujarat.

Since the passing out of its first batch of six (06) students in 2009-10, the institute has consistently maintained an excellent placement record. Most graduates have been successfully placed in government organizations, reputed private companies, and agro-based industries, while several have also opted for entrepreneurship. To promote academic excellence, the university annually confers a gold-plated silver medal to the student achieving the highest Overall Grade Point Average (OGPA) in the Agri-Business Management faculty.

From the very first year, students actively participate in various sports and cultural activities organized by the institute as well as Junagadh Agricultural University (JAU). Their daily schedule remains well-balanced, involving teaching, examinations, sports, and cultural engagements. To foster a sense of belongingness, teamwork, and cooperation, the institute encourages students to plan and manage several cultural events on their own, including welcome and farewell functions, Teacher's Day celebrations, Yoga programs, and other activities.

The institute also provides a well-maintained gym and sports facilities to promote both physical and mental fitness among students. Furthermore, in compliance with ICAR guidelines, the college has established various committees such as the Career Guidance and Placement Committee, Cultural Committee, Readers Club Committee, Anti-Ragging Committee, Anti-Ragging Squad and Gender Committee (Sexual Harassment Redressal Committee), Grievance Redressal Management Committee (GRMS) to ensure student welfare, safety, and smooth functioning of academic and extracurricular activities.

6.4.4.3 THEORY & PRACTICAL BATCHES FOR THE DEGREE PROGRAM (2024-25)

According to recommendations of BSMA, ICAR 5th Dean's committee, the course curriculum followed at the Institute for MBA in Agribusiness Management faculty is a blend of theory and practical aspects. Along with theoretical background in theory class, role play, management games, communication skills development, group discussion, field visit, case studies are part of routine practical activities, and numerical courses also have practical lectures.

6.4.5. CONDUCT OF PRACTICAL AND HANDS-ON TRAINING

Practical classes are designed to familiarise students with the real-world applications of agri-business and management principles. These sessions involve detailed explanations and problem-solving exercises using hypothetical data to reinforce theoretical concepts. To bridge classroom learning with field realities, students participate in field visits to interact directly with farmers, agro-based industries, banks, and other stakeholders. These visits enable students to gather actual data related to agricultural input marketing, produce marketing, processing, exports, and financial operations, thereby deepening their understanding of how theoretical knowledge is implemented in practice.

An additional objective of these field visits is to help students comprehend the goals, functions, and contributions of various institutions involved in agricultural development. For subjects that include both theoretical and practical components, faculty members assign term papers covering a broad range of relevant topics distinct from those chosen for credit seminars. These term papers are evaluated during practical examinations. Furthermore, students are given class assignments and are encouraged to present their work during scheduled class hours, fostering analytical thinking and communication skills.

6.4.5.1. LEARNING MATERIALS

- Faculty members utilise PowerPoint presentations alongside whiteboards to deliver engaging and effective classroom instruction. They recommend relevant reference books for each subject and, when necessary, prepare practical notes tailored to the postgraduate curriculum, which are distributed to students to support hands-on learning.
- Students gain practical exposure through interactive sessions that include real-world company examples, case study analysis, role-playing exercises, and management games—designed to simulate business scenarios and enhance decision-making skills.
- To deepen their understanding of agri-business concepts, students participate in field visits to agro-based industries, Agricultural Produce Market Committees (APMCs), and cooperative societies. These visits provide insights into operational practices, and students are required to submit a brief report summarizing their observations and learnings.

6.4.5.2. PRACTICAL & HANDS-ON-TRAINING

- Students are regularly introduced to diverse business units such as banks, nurseries, marketing yards, agricultural processing facilities, and other agro-based industries. These visits offer students a comprehensive view of business and agribusiness operations, enabling them to witness real-world practices and engage directly with industry professionals to deepen their practical understanding.
- During the second semester, students undertake a four-week summer training program that involves an in-depth study of a company's management operations. They are required to prepare a comprehensive report detailing their observations and analyses, which is evaluated and graded. This training offers valuable practical exposure to the application of management principles in a professional setting.
- The fourth semester of the MBA program is entirely devoted to research project work. Students engage in a four to six-week research assignment under the guidance of a company or business entity, culminating in the submission of a detailed research report. This report is assessed and graded, with appropriate weightage given to external evaluation, ensuring academic rigour and industry relevance.

6.4.6. SUPERVISION OF STUDENTS IN THE PG (MASTER'S) PROGRAM

The faculties of the Post Graduate Institute of Agri-Business Management are involved in guiding the students enrolled in the MBA and Ph.D. programs. Some of them are also recognised for guiding the students of other programs. The detail of recognised faculties for MBA, Ph.D. and other programs is depicted in Table 6.4.6.1.1.

Students of MBA have a student advisory committee, proposed by the Principal of the institute and approved by the Director of Research and Dean PG Studies. The committee comprise of major guide, two members and one statistician. The major guide of the student acts as chairman of the committee. The advisory committee provides guidance throughout the study program of the student related to the seminar, summer internship and research. It covers selecting the topic of the seminar and research project, monitoring the progress, correction and finalisation of synopsis and thesis draft, etc.

6.4.7. FEEDBACK OF STAKEHOLDERS (STUDENTS, PARENTS, INDUSTRIES, EMPLOYERS, FARMERS)

The institute has implemented a robust mentor-mentee system to actively gather feedback from students. Faculty performance in both teaching and research is periodically assessed through student evaluations and self-appraisals, which are carefully reviewed by the Principal. Insights from these reviews are used to enhance the teaching effectiveness of the faculty. Additionally, feedback from parents is collected during their visits to the campus, and appropriate actions are taken by the Principal, teachers or major advisor based on their input. At the university level, further mechanisms are in place—including student counsellors and the Student Advisory Committee at the institute level—to ensure continuous feedback from students, parents, and other stakeholders is considered in institutional development.

Student Feedback Mechanism

- In accordance with Section 24 of the Gujarat Agricultural Universities Act, 2004, the Honourable Vice Chancellor authorized the formation of various committees across faculties at Junagadh Agricultural University in 2015 to evaluate academic activities.
- PGIABM is an integral part of the Social Science Subcommittee, comprising all faculty members up to the rank of Assistant Professor who are engaged in teaching, research, or extension activities.
- Since 2016, student feedback related to teaching has been systematically incorporated into the committee's reports, following the format prescribed by the Convener of the Social Science Subcommittee.
- The analyzed feedback reports are presented during subcommittee meetings for review, discussion, and recommendations by the group members.
- PGIABM actively implements the suggestions provided by the Social Science Subcommittee to enhance the academic experience and overall development of students.
- The Academic Council: The committee is constituted by the university authorities and includes Deans of all faculties, nominated Professors, Research Scientists from various disciplines, and distinguished academicians. Academic decisions are made by the Academic Council based on recommendations from the Board of Studies, and these decisions are subsequently implemented across the respective faculties and colleges. (Annexure 6.4.7a).
- Student Advisory Committee: At the college level, a structured mentoring system is in place wherein each faculty member is assigned a group of four to five students. Regular interactions are held to address academic concerns as well as hostel-related issues. Suggestions and feedback from these discussions are reviewed and implemented to improve student welfare and the overall learning environment. (Annexure 6.4.7b & c).
- Student Counsellor: The system is actively functioning within the college, facilitating regular discussions with students on teaching and learning practices. Student feedback is consistently gathered and thoughtfully incorporated to enhance academic delivery and improve the overall educational experience. (Annexure 6.4.7d).

- Group of Subjects: The meeting is convened under the chairmanship of the Vice Chancellor, Director of Research, Principal, and Deans of various faculties, along with all faculty members of the Social Science Group. Its primary purpose is to review the current status and content of academic courses and to discuss student feedback collected in the prescribed format provided by the Convener of the Social Science Group. The committee thoroughly evaluates and deliberates on the feedback, offering recommendations for improvement. In the subsequent meeting, the Convener presents a detailed report on the actions taken based on the previous recommendations. (Annexure 6.4.7e).
- Stakeholders' Feedback: Feedback from industry partners recognized as key stakeholders is actively collected regarding student performance during project work. These insights serve as a valuable input for evaluating practical competencies and aligning academic outcomes with industry expectations. (Annexure 6.4.7f to k).

6.4.8. STUDENT INTAKE AND ATTRITION IN THE PROGRAM FOR LAST FIVE YEARS

Post Graduate Institute of Agri-Business Management offers master level program. Some of the students recruited on the basis of their UG degree and hence leave the course before completion of admitted PG course. Moreover, some girl students also do not complete the course due to their social responsibility. So there may be variation in sanctioned strength, actual admission, and passed out students due to attrition. Sanctioned strength, actual intake and attrition per cent for the year 2024-25 are given below.

6.4.8.1. INTAKE AND ATTRITION OF STUDENTS

Intake for MBA degree program was 38 from the year 2020-21 which includes 3 seats for EWS students as shown below.

6.4.8.2. STUDENTS' PLACEMENT PROFILE

Placement is a crucial factor in the successful completion of any postgraduate program. Securing a position in a top multinational company is a goal for many students to achieve their professional aspirations. The institute has a dedicated placement cell that assists students in obtaining positions with attractive remuneration. Over the past five years, a total of 84 students have been placed in various companies, with annual salary packages ranging from ₹ 2.5 lakh to ₹ 13.0 lakh.

6.4.1. BRIEF HISTORY OF PH.D. PROGRAM

A constituent college of Junagadh Agricultural University (JAU), the Post Graduate Institute of Agri-Business Management (PGIABM) is located within the scenic and academically vibrant campus of Junagadh Agricultural University in Junagadh, Gujarat. Strategically situated in the heart of the Saurashtra region, the institute benefits from the rich agricultural diversity and research ecosystem of the university. Being an integral part of JAU, PGIABM enjoys access to the university's state-of-the-art infrastructure, advanced research facilities, experienced faculty members, and extensive academic resources. Its location within JAU also facilitates close collaboration with various departments, research centres, and extension activities of the university, ensuring students gain both theoretical knowledge and practical exposure to real-world agricultural practices. The Department of Agriculture & Co-operation, Government of Gujarat (GOG), approved the institute on June 10, 2008, with resolution number JKV-122008-362-K.2 (Annex-6.4.1). The institute was first established in 2008 in the ATIC building of Junagadh Agricultural University in Junagadh. Following that, Junagadh Agricultural University allocated a total of 0.8632 hectares of land for the construction of a college building. Hostels for both boys and girls are necessary because it is a residential degree program. While a separate boys' hostel was approved, the girls admitted into the agribusiness doctoral program are staying in Junagadh Agricultural University's shared PG girls' hostel. The Institute was given the separate land where the boys' hostel was built, named "Chanakya" for the boys taking admission in the agribusiness faculty. The Chanakya hostel building, which houses 40 rooms for boys, is completely furnished and operational under the administration of The Principal, Post Graduate Institute of Agri-Business Management.

In accordance with the guidelines of the Indian Council of Agricultural Research (ICAR), the institute building, along with all the necessary infrastructure and facilities, was constructed at the sanctioned location within the Junagadh Agricultural University campus. On 14th August 2012, the newly built college building was inaugurated by Shri Narendra Modi, the then Honourable Chief Minister of Gujarat State.

At present, as per ICAR norms and academic standards, the institute is actively engaged in imparting quality education in the field of Agri-Business Management in Gujarat. It plays a pivotal role in developing skilled professionals, researchers, scientists, and entrepreneurs, who act as driving forces for the progress of agripreneurs and farmers, either directly or indirectly. The institute not only focuses on enhancing students' managerial and technical competencies but also aims to improve the socio-economic status of agripreneurs through innovation, research, and capacity-building initiatives.

In addition to academic training, PGIABM emphasises practical exposure, industry interaction, and entrepreneurial development, preparing students to tackle the evolving challenges of the agri-business sector. It continues to serve as a centre of excellence, fostering sustainable growth, promoting rural development, and shaping the next generation of innovators in the agri-business domain, and contributes significantly to transforming the agricultural and business landscape of Gujarat. Student admissions are conducted through an entrance examination and merit-based selection, in accordance with the academic policies of the State Agricultural Universities of Gujarat.

Since the passing out of its first batch of two (02) students in 2019, the institute has consistently maintained an excellent placement record. Most doctorates have been successfully placed in government organisations, reputed private companies, and agro-based industries. From the very first year, students actively participate in various curricular and co-curricular activities organised by the institute as well as Junagadh Agricultural University (JAU). Their daily schedule remains well-balanced, involving teaching, examinations, sports, and co-curricular engagements. To foster a sense of belongingness, teamwork, and cooperation, the institute encourages students to plan and manage several cultural events on their own, including welcome and farewell functions, Teacher's Day celebrations, Yoga programs, and other activities.

The institute also provides a well-maintained gym and sports facilities to promote both physical and mental fitness among students. Furthermore, in compliance with ICAR guidelines, the college has established various committees such as the Career Guidance and Placement Committee, Cultural Committee, Readers Club Committee, Anti-Ragging Committee, Anti-Ragging Squad, and Gender Committee (Sexual Harassment Redressal Committee), Grievance Redressal Management Committee (GRMS) to ensure student welfare, safety, and smooth functioning of academic and extracurricular activities.

SIGNIFICANT MILESTONES OF THE INSTITUTE

- In August 2008, the Institute received approval as the first government-approved postgraduate institution offering an MBA in Agri-Business Management. It is a part of Junagadh Agricultural University, Junagadh, which is located in the Saurashtra area of Gujarat state.
- The Institute also began full-fledged operations with modern infrastructure in its new building in August 2012, and a newly constructed boys' hostel was also assigned to the institute in 2013.

6.4.1.2. MISSION AND OBJECTIVES

The goal of this institute's Agribusiness Management program is to create a management workforce to support the agricultural sector, which is a viable option for career advancement in the corporate sector. The mix of the academic and practical education systems at PGIABM is excellent. This institute at JAU produces a new generation of managers who are knowledgeable enough to handle the harsh realities of agribusiness uncertainty while also adding value to the technological and economic complexity of the twenty-first century. This institute is known for taking unconventional routes rather than following the same old ones.

6.4.4.3. THEORY & PRACTICAL BATCHES FOR THE DEGREE PROGRAM (2024-25)

According to the recommendations of the BSMA, ICAR 5th Dean's committee, the course curriculum followed at the Institute for Ph.D. in Agribusiness Management faculty is a blend of theory and practical aspects. Along with theoretical background in theory class, classroom management, communication skills development, group discussion, field visit, case studies are part of routine practical activities, and numerical courses also have practical lectures.

6.4.5. CONDUCT OF PRACTICAL AND HANDS-ON TRAINING

Practical classes are designed to familiarize students with the real-world applications of agri-business and management principles. These sessions involve detailed explanations and problem-solving exercises using hypothetical data to simulate business scenarios. To complement classroom learning, field visits are organized to gather first-hand information from farmers, agro-based industries, financial institutions, and other stakeholders. These visits provide insights into agricultural input marketing, produce marketing, processing, export operations, and financial management, helping student bridge theory with practice.

Additionally, field visits aim to deepen students' understanding of the objectives, functions, and contributions of various institutions involved in agricultural development. For subjects that include both theoretical and practical components, students are required to submit term papers. These papers should explore a broad range of topics within the scope of the subject and must differ from the themes covered in credit seminars. Evaluation of term papers takes place during the practical examination. To further enhance engagement, students are also given class assignments, which they are expected to present during scheduled class hours, fostering discussion and peer learning.

6.4.5.1 LEARNING MATERIALS

- Faculty members utilize PowerPoint presentations in conjunction with whiteboards to deliver lectures effectively. They recommend relevant reference books to support the curriculum and, when necessary, prepare practical notes tailored to the subject matter of the postgraduate program. These notes are distributed to students to aid in hands-on learning and practice.
- Practical classes are designed to provide experiential learning through real-world examples from companies. Students engage in case study analysis, role-playing exercises, and management games to develop problem-solving and decision-making skills.
- To enhance practical understanding, visits to agro-based industries, Agricultural Produce Market Committees (APMCs), and cooperative societies are organized. These field visits offer students first-hand insights into industry operations and institutional roles. Following each visit, students are required to submit a concise report summarizing their observations and learnings.

6.4.5.2 PRACTICAL & HANDS-ON-TRAINING

- Students are regularly introduced to diverse business entities such as banks, nurseries, marketing yards, agricultural processing units, and other agro-based industries. These interactions provide valuable insights into various facets of business management and offer real-world examples of agribusiness practices. Through direct engagement with resource persons from these organizations, students enhance their understanding and broaden their practical knowledge.
- Upon fulfilling the coursework requirements for the Ph.D. program—typically by the fourth semester—students, under the guidance of their major advisor, identify a research problem aligned with their academic interests. They then prepare a detailed synopsis and present it before their advisory committee, fellow faculty members, and peers for review and feedback. This process marks a critical step in shaping their doctoral research journey.

6.4.6. SUPERVISION OF STUDENTS IN Ph.D. PROGRAM

Post Graduate Institute of Agri-Business Management offers a doctoral level program, Ph.D. So, the faculties of the institute are assigned to teach / guide PG and doctoral students only. The details of qualified faculty are given below.

6.4.6.1. SUPERVISION OF Ph.D. STUDENTS

Each student admitted in the Ph.D. course at PG Institute of Agri-Business Management has a Student Advisory Committee to supervise the student during the study programme. The committee comprises a Chairman (Major Guide) of the Advisory Committee appointed by the Dean PG Studies and three/four members from his/her major, minor, and allied fields of study proposed by the major advisor, recommended by the HOD, Principal, Registrar, and approved by the Dean PG Studies. The committee guides the students from the selection of courses for the students and also guides in seminars and research (thesis) of the students.

Details of recognition and numbers of students guided by each faculty are given under this head.

6.4.7. FEEDBACK OF STAKEHOLDERS (STUDENTS, PARENTS, INDUSTRIES, EMPLOYERS, FARMERS)

The institute has implemented a robust mentor-mentee system to facilitate regular feedback from students and support their academic and personal development. Faculty members are periodically evaluated based on their teaching effectiveness and research contributions through structured student feedback and self-appraisal reports. These evaluations are carefully reviewed by the principal, and the insights gained are used to enhance the teaching methodologies and professional growth of the faculty.

Parents occasionally meet with the student's major advisor as well as the Principal to discuss academic progress. These interactions also serve as an additional channel for feedback, which is taken into consideration when making improvements to student support and academic delivery.

In addition to institute-level mechanisms, the university operates broader feedback systems, including a Student Advisory Committee, to gather input from students and other stakeholders.

- The Academic Council: The committee is constituted by the university authorities and includes Deans of all faculties, nominated Professors, Research Scientists from various disciplines, and distinguished academicians. Academic decisions are made by the Academic Council based on recommendations put forth by the Board of Studies. These decisions are then implemented across the respective faculties and colleges to ensure consistency and academic excellence. (Annexure 6.4.7a).
- Student Advisory Committee: Upon admission to the doctoral program, each student is assigned a Major Advisor who initiates the formation of the Advisory Committee. This committee comprises five members: two experts from the student's major field of study, one from an allied discipline, and one from a supporting field, in addition to the Major Advisor. The Advisory Committee plays a pivotal role in guiding the student's academic and research journey. Regular discussions are held to address educational challenges and research-related issues, ensuring timely support and effective implementation of solutions throughout the doctoral program. (Annexure 6.4.7c).
- Students' Feedback: Suggestions from students and parents play a vital role in enhancing the quality of education and research. Faculty members actively seek and consider this feedback during personal interactions, as well as through inputs submitted via the suggestion box. These contributions are carefully reviewed and, where appropriate, integrated into institutional practices to foster continuous improvement and a more responsive academic environment. (Annexure 6.4.7j).

6.4.8. STUDENT INTAKE AND ATTRITION IN THE PROGRAMME FOR LAST FIVE YEARS

Post Graduate Institute of Agri-Business Management offers Master's and doctoral programs and therefore students admitted in the course have already planned their carrier. Those who are really willing to go for further studies, only join a doctoral program, and in that case, the attrition per cent is zero from the very first year. From 2014 onwards, not a single student has left the doctoral degree program.

6.4.8.1. INTAKE AND ATTRITION OF STUDENTS

The Ph.D. in Agribusiness Management was started in 2014 at PGIABM. Students' intake, actual admitted, and attrition is shown in table 6.4.8.1.1.

6.5.1.4. ANTI-RAGGING CELL

This institute closely adheres to the University Grants Commission (UGC) guidelines, directives, and recommendations issued periodically to combat the threat of ragging and ensure a safe and inclusive academic environment. At the time of admission, the institute strictly follows all mandatory procedures, safety measures, and preventive protocols to protect students from any form of physical, mental, or emotional harassment.

The institute has constituted an Anti-Ragging Committee and an Anti-Ragging Squad comprising faculty members, administrative staff, and student representatives. These bodies work proactively to monitor student activities, address grievances, and ensure prompt action in case of any reported incident.

No incidents of ragging have been reported in this institute since its inception, owing to the effective precautionary measures consistently implemented by the institute's administration.

As per UGC regulation on forming Anti-ragging Cell in higher educational institutions, 2009, The Institute has established the Anti-ragging Cell. (Annexure 6.5.1.4a & b).

The following measures are taken to curb the menace of ragging.

- All students receive regular updates from the Principal, Counsellor, and hostel Rector regarding the repercussions of engaging in activities related to ragging.
- Students who have just been admitted are aware of the consequences of ragging and are educated on how to avoid it.
- An Anti-Ragging Committee has been established, and it will meet regularly with local police officers, social activists, teaching and non-teaching staff.

- An anti-ragging team has been established to conduct unexpected visits to sensitive locations, such as the hostel grounds, canteen, hallways, classrooms, fields, and playground.
- The rector's office at the hostel level and the Principal's office at the institution level oversee the CCTV surveillance of both buildings, which has significantly reduced the ragging problem.
- In the institute and hostel accommodation, students are encouraged to participate in sports, games, and extracurricular activities. Through yoga camps, education initiatives, sports, and other activities, the students receive psycho-social support aimed at boosting their self-esteem, camaraderie, and friendship.
- Both freshers and seniors receive counselling from their respective counsellors.
- The Anti-Ragging Committee's Nodal Officers and contact information are maintained on the institute's website and also displayed on the notice board of the institute and hostels.
- It is suggested that newly accepted students feel free to voice their grievances and issues to the appropriate authorities.

6.5.1.5. BIOLOGICAL WASTE DISPOSAL FACILITY

Kitchen & Garden Waste

We encourage students at Chanakya Hostel to reduce food waste. As a result, pupils are aware of the worldwide food shortage and the significant amount of food that is wasted. Food waste may be almost eliminated with the participation of students. Chanakya Hostel uses composting techniques to turn the leftover food from the kitchen and other organic garden waste into organic manure. Since it is entirely environmentally friendly, there is no harm done to the environment. In this approach, we encourage the vegetables and plants cultivated in the Chanakya Hostel garden area to thrive healthily.

The institute also uses composting techniques to turn garden waste into organic manure. The institute employs various composting techniques to transform garden waste, such as fallen leaves, plant trimmings, and other biodegradable organic materials, into nutrient-rich organic manure. By using composting, the Institute not only reduces the amount of waste sent to landfills but also produces a sustainable, eco-friendly fertilizer that supports healthy plant growth and promotes environmental conservation. This practice aligns with the Institute's commitment to sustainable gardening and waste management.

The Summer Training Coordinator establishes the dates for the Summer Internship during the second semester, and the Principal also provide guidance for the Industrial visit each academic year to ensure practical exposure for the students. The Cultural Activity In-Charge and the Gymkhana Chairman, following the directives of Junagadh Agricultural University, conduct various activities throughout the academic year. A unified PG Academic calendar is adhered to for classes, and the timetable for the semester-end examinations is prepared accordingly to align closely with the common schedule for all four SAUs in the state of Gujarat.

The Post Graduate Institute of Agri-Business Management, JAU, Junagadh also prepares annual report and planning for extra-curricular activities, celebration of festivals and cultural days every year. All the students of this Institute are actively participate in all the activities every year apart from their brilliant academic careers.

6.5.4.4. CONDUCT OF PRACTICAL AND HANDS ON TRAINING

- Students are consistently exposed to a wide range of business entities—including agri inputs manufacturer, agro-processing units, financial institutions, plant propagation units, agri-trade platform, and other agriculture-based industries—to examine critical dimensions of business management. These hands-on experiences provide meaningful insights into the practical workings of agribusiness. By engaging directly with industry professionals and subject matter experts, students enhance their comprehension and fulfill their pursuit of applied knowledge.
- During their third semester, students participate in a four-week summer training program that involves an in-depth study of a company's management practices. This immersive experience allows them to observe and analyze real-world applications of management principles. At the end of the training, students compile a detailed report documenting their findings and insights, which serves as the basis for their academic evaluation and grading. Through this hands-on exposure, they gain valuable practical knowledge that complements their classroom learning.
- In the final semester of the MBA in Agribusiness Management, students immerse themselves in an intensive research initiative. Over a span of four to six weeks, they collaborate with a company or agribusiness entity to explore practical challenges and industry-relevant topics. This phase involves systematic data collection, critical analysis, and the development of a detailed research report. The project is assessed through a combination of internal appraisal and external evaluation, with marks awarded based on the rigor, relevance, and depth of the research conducted.
- A two-hour practical session is scheduled every week, offering students an opportunity to apply and deepen their understanding of both analytical and theoretical subjects. Numerical disciplines are tackled through interactive problem-solving tasks and applied exercises. Meanwhile, conceptual areas are explored via engaging formats such as case-based discussions, strategic games, simulated roles, interview practice, and workshops aimed at enhancing communication and personal growth. These sessions cultivate a comprehensive and experience-driven approach to learning.

6.5.4.6. NCC/NSS/RVC UNITS

PG Institute of ABM provides a full-time Master's program lasting two years and a three-year full-time doctoral degree course, hence there are no dedicated NCC/NSS/RVC Units within the institute. Nevertheless, the institute's students engage in various inter-college sports and co-curricular competitions/events organized by the University. Additionally, as a constituent college of the University, the institute organizes an annual Inter College Chess and Cricket competition. The other co-curricular activities are outlined below.

The institute conducts an industrial tour every year. The purpose of these industrial visits is to give students a deeper understanding of how companies operate internally. It is widely recognized that theoretical knowledge alone does not suffice for building a successful professional career. Aiming to extend beyond academic learning, these visits offer students real-world insights into the working environment. Over the past five years, a total of 14 industrial or educational tours have been organized for MBA students in Gujarat, Rajasthan, and Maharashtra. These tours have included visits to various sectors such as food processing, tractor and farm machinery, cold storage, seed production, agricultural produce marketing, and business training centers. In total, 39 MBA students have participated in these industrial tours.

6.5.4.7. LANGUAGE LABORATORY

PG Institute of ABM is located on the campus of Junagadh Agricultural University, where it offers a two-year full-time Master's program and a three-year full-time doctoral degree. The curriculum includes only one subject related to Business Communication, as specified in the 5th Deans' course curriculum.

It is an undeniable truth that English serves as the primary means of global communication, a language through which universal knowledge is shared. Considering all these aspects, following a thorough analysis of the academic environment present in both national and international institutions, a noticeable enhancement has occurred; the faculty members focus and consistently assist students in improving their proficiency in English. Activities such as short videos, communication games, mock interviews, and other interactive classroom exercises are integrated into the regular curriculum as part of the practical component of communication skills. Furthermore, at the university level, workshops on communication skills and personality development are organized with the support of the Director of the Students' Welfare office, and students actively benefit from participating in these sessions.

6.5.4.8. CULTURAL CENTER

In addition to the academic curriculum, students received training aimed at developing their skills and achieving excellence in a variety of sports activities. Consequently, inter-collegiate competitions for numerous games such as chess, table tennis, badminton, kabaddi, volleyball, basketball, kho-kho, cricket, weightlifting, athletics, as well as cultural activities, essay writing, debates, and elocution contests, are regularly organized across different colleges. Students who excel in the inter-collegiate competitions are then nominated to participate in the inter-university events.

Junagadh Agricultural University features numerous playgrounds and a well-kept athletic track to motivate students to engage in various sports. The university also boasts an Indoor Sports Complex equipped with modern facilities. Students from PGIABM show a strong interest in cultural activities such as drama, mono acting, fancy dress, dance, debate, and singing, among others. Junagadh Agricultural University has an expansive auditorium that seats 650, and our students consistently participate in intercollegiate competitions organized by JAU each year. Relying solely on academic pursuits does not fulfill the goals of personal development. The Institute advocates for the holistic development of students and regularly organizes diverse recreational activities to alleviate the monotony of academic life. Extracurricular activities are planned, overseen, and recognized by the Institute to foster managerial skills.

The air-conditioned multipurpose seminar hall has the capacity to host approximately 80 individuals and comes equipped with modern facilities, along with indoor and outdoor spaces for various events at PGIABM. The institute also provides sufficient infrastructure for carrying out cultural activities in a climate-controlled setting.

Students at this institute are engaged in inter-college cultural programs at the university level, as well as in welcome and farewell events at the institute level. A variety of cultural activities, including Navratri, Women's Day, Yoga Week, Teachers' Day, and Agricultural Education Day, are occasionally organized, and winners receive certificates and prizes. Additionally, students take part in competitions like essay writing, drama, and drawing, and they also compete in events hosted by other traditional colleges.

6.5.7.4. EMPLOYABILITY

Post Graduate Institute of Agri-Business Management (PGIABM), Junagadh Agricultural University offers a two-year MBA in Agri-Business Management with the objective of producing professionally trained manpower for the growing agri-business sector. The programme blends agriculture, economics, commerce, and management principles, preparing students to meet the dynamic needs of the agri-food industry, cooperatives, agri-input companies, rural banking, commodity markets, and allied sectors. Over the last five years, the Institute has consistently contributed skilled graduates who are well-placed in reputed private, government, and cooperative organizations. Students have been employed in diverse roles such as agri-input marketing executives, commodity traders, credit and finance officers, supply chain managers, warehousing and logistics professionals, food processing managers, export executives, and rural development specialists in national and multinational companies.

The Institute has taken several initiatives to strengthen employability through industry collaborations and skill enhancement programs. Notably, PGIABM signed a MoU with Bajaj Finserv Ltd., under which 54 students of first and second year successfully completed a 96-hour training program and received certification in the Certificate Program in Banking, Finance and Insurance. This initiative provided students with practical exposure to the banking and financial services sector, thereby enhancing their career prospects. In addition, the Institute organized a one-day NCDEX webinar to familiarize students with derivative and commodity markets, further equipping them with applied knowledge in agri-commodity trading.

The program also nurtures entrepreneurial skills among students, encouraging them to establish start-ups in agri-business and allied fields. Many graduates have opted for academic and research careers as the discipline of Agri-Business Management is still emerging and there is a growing demand for qualified faculty across universities and management institutes in India. Continuous industry interaction through internships, live projects, industrial visits, expert lectures, and placement activities has further enhanced employability and practical learning outcomes.

Commercialization of agriculture, government focus on start-ups, digital agribusiness platforms, and the growth of food and agritech industries have widened employment avenues. PGIABM students have shown competence in areas such as market research, financial analysis, agribusiness consultancy, supply chain management, and international trade, thereby strengthening their employability in both domestic and global markets. The emphasis on practical exposure, soft skills, and problem-solving through real-life projects ensures that graduates emerge as capable professionals who can take managerial responsibilities in diverse agricultural and food enterprises.
